

AIE Melbourne Branch and the Victorian Government are pleased to present

Energy Down Under Seminar
Power, heating and cooling from the energy just under our feet

With Dr Don Payne (University of Melbourne), Dr Adrian Williams (ex Geodynamics), Dr Mirek Piechowski (Meinhardt Consulting) and Simon Molesworth AM QC (Greenearth)

Date/Venue: Thursday 11 March 2010 at 121 Exhibition Street

Time/Format: Registration 5.30 pm. Food, drinks and networking at 7.00 pm

Hot rocks and geothermal

Australia has promising geothermal resources and the 'gold rush' is now on with companies seeing strong support from the stock market and the corporate world. Adrian Williams will speak from his experience as the interim CEO of Geodynamics. Simon Molesworth, an eminent environmental lawyer, is now Chair of Greenearth, which recently received a $25 million grant offer from the Victorian Government. He will discuss Greenearth's proposed geothermal project.

Geoexchange

Less well known is geoexchange – heating and cooling using heat pumps and buried loops. The earth offers heat and 'heat dump' (for cooling) capacity via geoexchange heat pumps, with several million installations in the USA and Europe but only a few in Australia. Mirek Piechowski and Don Payne will explain the technology, the opportunities, and the Victorian Government's 'Four Seasons' grant program.

Bookings with payment must be received by Tuesday 9 March 2010 or until filled.
